Current MIFID legislation prevents us from reporting performance data for funds with less than a 12 month track record. The benchmark is the ICEBofA SOFR Overnight Rate Index
All periods longer than one year are annualised. SI is the performance since inception.

The fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to the below benchmark as further outlined in the prospectus and key investor information document/key information document.

ICE BofA SOFR Overnight Rate Index tracks the performance of a synthetic asset paying SOFR to a stated maturity. The index is based on the assumed purchase at par of a synthetic instrument having exactly its stated maturity and with a coupon equal to that days fixing rate. That issue is assumed to be sold the following business day (priced at a yield equal to the current day fixing rate) and rolled into a new instrument. SOFR (Secured Overnight Funding Rate) is an overnight rate (published in arrears) and was chosen by the Alternative Reference Rates Committee ("ARRC") as the successor to the USD LIBOR (London Interbank Offered Rate). SOFR is secured (collateralized by Treasuries), calculated by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and transactions based. It is not possible to invest directly in an unmanaged index.

Credit and Default Risk: A decline in the financial health of an issuer of a fixed income security can lead to an inability or unwillingness to repay a loan or meet a contractual obligation. This could cause the value of its bonds to fall or become worthless. Funds with high exposures to non-investment grade securities have a higher exposure to this risk. Currency Risk: Changes in exchange rates may cause the value of investments to decrease or increase. Derivatives and Counterparty Risk: The use of certain derivatives could result in the fund having a greater or more volatile exposure to the underlying assets and an increased exposure to counterparty risk. This may expose the fund to larger gains or losses associated with market movements or in relation to a trade counterparty being unable to meet its obligations. Liquidity Risk: Difficult market conditions could result in certain securities becoming hard to sell at a desired time and price. Interest Rate Risk: Changes in interest rates will usually result in the values of bond and other debt instruments moving in the opposite direction (e.g. a rise in interest rates likely leads to fall in bond prices).

MONTH IN REVIEW

Market Review

The month of August saw relatively strong performance from the capital securities markets, mostly driven by rates rallying. The Bloomberg European Banks Additional Tier 1 (AT1) Index generated total returns of 1.68% (USD hedged), while the Bloomberg Global Agg Corp Senior Financials Index (USD hedged) rose by 1.06%. By comparison, Global IG and Global BB-B Rated HY generated returns of 1.20% and 1.44%, respectively. Over the month, spreads in European AT1s tightened by 13 basis points (bps), while Senior Financials spreads widened by 1 basis point.

2Q24 Earnings Results

European Banks

With a few additional European banks reporting their second quarter numbers in August, we had a more complete picture of the banking sector’s recent fundamental performance and the broad theme of generally robust results remained in place. The majority of institutions reported results that were either in-line with or better than consensus expectations. Earnings beats were generally driven by fees, as capital markets activity continued to improve. Net interest income also showed growth and many banks in the euro area and UK increased their NII guidance. From a balance sheet perspective, European lenders reported stable or increasing capital ratios, strong liquidity ratios and low cost of risk, with management guiding for these trends to persist. Overall, the second quarter proved to be another solid period for the European banking sector.

Supply Update

August was a relatively subdued month in terms of primary market activity, as would be expected for this time of year, especially within the AT1 space. There was only 1 European institutional sized AT1 deal from SEB, a Nordic bank. We saw €6.1 billion issued in Tier 2 and €10.6 billion issued across senior bonds this month. Year to date, there has been total issuance of €272 billion across the capital structure from European banks, which is considerably higher than the levels seen in 2022 and slightly lower than in 2023. In particular, the supply of AT1 and Tier 2 bonds has been more pronounced compared to the previous two years. The driver of elevated primary activity in Tier 2 bonds has been the refinancing of upcoming calls in 2025 of bonds largely issued in the early part of 2020.

PORTFOLIO POSITIONING

The Fund favors AT1s from systemic banks and national champions with ample capital buffers, robust equity cushions and a diversified revenue stream. At the same time, the Fund remains cautious on smaller issuers and those with more limited scope for organic capital generation. Geographically, the Fund is well diversified and favors countries such as the UK, Netherlands and France where banks have the highest levels of capital. In senior and Tier 2 debt, the exposure remains mostly centered on UK banks, as well as select idiosyncratic opportunities in peripheral and core European banks offering upside through improving fundamentals and potential consolidation.

Over the course of August, primary market activity was muted as expected, meaning that opportunities to participate in new issues was limited. Instead, the Fund modestly decreased its dry powder by adding to a select non-financial issuer in the secondary market. The Fund continues to focus on the more resilient issuers within the bank capital investment universe, while also being well positioned to take advantage of primary market activity or market dislocations when they arise.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

The banking sector continues to exhibit strong credit fundamentals. Banks' asset quality has remained resilient and capital buffers are at or close to record highs. While higher interest rates and tighter financial conditions will inevitably have an impact on the broader economy, banks are well positioned given their strong fundamentals following more than a decade of restructuring, de-risking and de-leveraging and remain more insulated from inflationary pressures relative to other sectors in corporate credit.

Most banks are uniquely positioned to continue to benefit from higher rates, particularly in Europe. Banks in Europe are by far the biggest beneficiaries within the developed market banking system. Financial results published in the second quarter of 2024 continued to indicate that the benefits of abandoning negative rates have become visible on banks' P&Ls. While we believe earnings are likely peaking in this cycle for banks in the US and Europe, it is important to stress that we do not expect a return to an environment of extremely low or negative interest rates, which was the case for much of the last decade and which put bank earnings under pressure.

Valuations look attractive compared to other parts of the fixed income universe, particularly given AT1 yields remain elevated versus history. AT1s are currently trading at the 16th percentile of daily spread data since inception of the index in 2014 and continue to screen attractive versus high yield. Elsewhere in the capital structure, senior financials are currently trading at the 42nd percentile of daily spread data since the inception of the AT1 index in 2014, thus providing attractive spreads compared to historical levels. Looking at yields, AT1s are trading at the 63rd percentile of daily YTW data since the inception of the AT1 Index in 2014, while senior financials are trading at the 81st percentile. These levels represent attractive starting levels for long-term investors.

References to specific issuers are not intended and should not be interpreted as recommendations to purchase, sell or hold securities of those issuers. PIMCO products and strategies may or may not include the securities of the issuers referenced and, if such securities are included, no representation is being made that such securities will continue to be included.

Yields reported gross of fees, the deduction of which will reduce the yield. Yields are reported in the base currency of the fund and are not specific to the share class. The current yield illustrates the income investors could get from the portfolio as a percentage of market value of the securities assuming a holding period of one year. The current yield does not take into account the future cash flows of bonds, but rather is a snapshot of the income in the portfolio as of a certain point in time.

PIMCO calculates a Funds Estimated Yield to Maturity by averaging the yield to maturity of each security held in the Fund on a market weighted basis. PIMCO sources each security yield to maturity from PIMCO's Portfolio Analytics database. When not available in PIMCO's Portfolio Analytics database, PIMCO sources the security yield to maturity from Bloomberg. When not available in either database, PIMCO will assign a yield to maturity for that security from a PIMCO matrix based on prior data. The source data used in such circumstances is a static metric and PIMCO makes no representation as to the accuracy of the data for the purposes of calculating the Estimated Yield to Maturity. The Estimated Yield to Maturity is provided for illustrative purposes only and should not be relied upon as a primary basis for an investment decision and should not be interpreted as a guarantee or prediction of future performance of the Fund or the likely returns of any investment.

PERFORMANCE AND FEES

Past performance is not a guarantee or a reliable indicator of future results. The "gross of fees" performance figures, if included, are presented before management fees and custodial fees, but do reflect commissions, other expenses and reinvestment of earnings. The "net of fees" performance figures reflect the deduction of ongoing charges. All periods longer than one year are annualized. Investments made by a Fund and the results achieved by a Fund are not expected to be the same as those made by any other PIMCO-advised Fund, including those with a similar name, investment objective or policies. A new or smaller Fund's performance may not represent how the Fund is expected to or may perform in the long-term. New Funds have limited operating histories for investors to evaluate and new and smaller Funds may not attract sufficient assets to achieve investment and trading efficiencies. A Fund may be forced to sell a comparatively large portion of its portfolio to meet significant shareholder redemptions for cash, or hold a comparatively large portion of its portfolio in cash due to significant share purchases for cash, in each case when the Fund otherwise would not seek to do so, which may adversely affect performance.

Outlook: Statements concerning financial market trends or portfolio strategies are based on current market conditions, which will fluctuate. There is no guarantee that these investment strategies will work under all market conditions or are appropriate for all investors and each investor should evaluate their ability to invest for the long term, especially during periods of downturn in the market. Outlook and strategies are subject to change without notice.

ESG Investment Risk: At PIMCO, we define ESG Integration as the consistent consideration of material ESG factors into our investment research process to enhance our clients' risk-adjusted returns. Material ESG factors may include but are not limited to: climate change risks, social inequality, shifting consumer preferences, regulatory risks, talent management or misconduct at an issuer, among others. We recognize that ESG factors are increasingly essential inputs when evaluating global economies, markets, industries and business models. Material ESG factors are important considerations when evaluating long-term investment opportunities and risks for all asset classes in both public and private markets. Integrating ESG factors into the evaluation process does not mean that ESG information is the sole or primary consideration for an investment decision; instead, PIMCO's portfolio managers and analyst teams evaluate and weigh a variety of financial and non-financial factors, which can include ESG considerations, to make investment decisions. The relevance of ESG considerations to investment decisions varies across asset classes and strategies. The Fund's ESG investing strategy may select or exclude securities of certain issuers for reasons other than financial performance. Such strategy carries the risk that the Fund's performance will differ from similar funds that do not utilize an ESG investing strategy. For example, the application of this strategy could affect the Fund's exposure to certain sectors or types of investments, which could negatively impact the Fund's performance. There is no guarantee that the factors utilized by the investment Advisor will reflect the opinions of any particular investor, and the factors utilized by the Investment Advisor may differ from the factors that any particular investor considers relevant in evaluating an issuer's ESG practices. Future ESG development and regulation may impact the Fund's implementation of its investment strategy. In addition, there may be cost implications arising from ESG related due diligence, increased reporting and use of third-party ESG data providers.
