Credit and Default Risk: A decline in the financial health of an issuer of a fixed income security can lead to an inability or unwillingness to repay a loan or meet a contractual obligation. This could cause the value of its bonds to fall or become worthless. Funds with high exposures to non-investment grade securities have a higher exposure to this risk. Commodities Risk: The value of commodity related investments may fluctuate substantially due to changes in supply and demand and/or due to political, economic or financial events. Currency Risk: Changes in exchange rates may cause the value of investments to decrease or increase. Derivatives and Counterparty Risk: The use of certain derivatives could result in the fund having a greater or more volatile exposure to the underlying assets and an increased exposure to counterparty risk. This may expose the fund to larger gains or losses associated with market movements or in relation to a trade counterparty being unable to meet its obligations. Liquidity Risk: Difficult market conditions could result in certain securities becoming hard to sell at a desired time and price. Interest Rate Risk: Changes in interest rates will usually result in the values of bond and other debt instruments moving in the opposite direction (e.g. a rise in interest rates likely leads to fall in bond prices). Mortgage Related and Other Asset Backed Securities Risks: Mortgage or asset backed securities are subject to similar risks as other fixed income securities, and may also be subject to prepayment risk and higher levels of credit and liquidity risk.

MONTH IN REVIEW

Commodities were lower in February, as losses in natural gas, metals and grains more than offset gains primarily in the petroleum sector. Oil prices increased by ~2% over the month to ~$84, as geopolitical tensions in the Middle East continued to stoke worries about the oil supply outlook. Despite a rise in U.S. commercial crude stockpiles later in the month, reports of OPEC+ likely extending voluntary production cuts into Q2 continued to drive oil prices higher. U.S. natural gas prices fell by ~12% to settle at ~$1.8/MMBtu due to continued strong production. European natural gas prices fell by ~18% to ~€25/MWh, owing to warmer temperatures and high storage levels. Base metal prices were mostly down on growth concerns, while gold prices were slightly lower on higher real yields. In grains, soybeans underperformed as supply outlook improved in South America and U.S. production output was expected to trend higher. Wheat prices fell due to weak export demand.

PORTFOLIO POSITIONING

The Fund maintains full exposure to the Bloomberg Commodity Total Return Index, collateralized by a portfolio of global ILBs and other high-quality fixed income securities. The Fund's active commodity trades are focused on relative value opportunities in commodity markets.

PIMCO adds a range of active commodity strategies, utilizing multiple approaches to analyze commodity markets and investment opportunities. In general, active commodity trades will fall into the following categories: modified roll strategies, calendar/seasonality strategies, fundamentally-driven directional views, and systematic cross-sector relative value strategies.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

PIMCO's commodity portfolio managers continue to focus on attractive relative value opportunities while balancing PIMCO's macroeconomic outlook with commodity-specific supply trends. The Fund plans to continue to implement strategies at the intersection of fundamental and structural opportunities in commodity markets.

In the collateral portfolio, we continue to favor U.S. breakeven inflation rates, given valuations below fair value. We plan to respond to anticipated short-term inflation mispricing due to changes in commodity prices and seasonal trends. We also plan to hold inflation-linked bonds linked to stronger sovereign balance sheets and higher real yields which are designed to leave flexibility for rates to respond to continued global economic pressures.

[Ⓔ]Yields reported gross of fees, the deduction of which will reduce the yield. Yields are reported in the base currency of the fund and are not specific to the share class. The current yield illustrates the income investors could get from the portfolio as a percentage of market value of the securities assuming a holding period of one year. The current yield does not take into account the future cash flows of bonds, but rather is a snapshot of the income in the portfolio as of a certain point in time.

[Ⓕ]PIMCO calculates a Funds Estimated Yield to Maturity by averaging the yield to maturity of each security held in the Fund on a market weighted basis. PIMCO sources each security's yield to maturity from PIMCO's Portfolio Analytics database. When not available in PIMCO's Portfolio Analytics database, PIMCO sources the security's yield to maturity from Bloomberg. When not available in either database, PIMCO will assign a yield to maturity for that security from a PIMCO matrix based on prior data. The source data used in such circumstances is a static metric and PIMCO makes no representation as to the accuracy of the data for the purposes of calculating the Estimated Yield to Maturity. The Estimated Yield to Maturity is provided for illustrative purposes only and should not be relied upon as a primary basis for an investment decision and should not be interpreted as a guarantee or prediction of future performance of the Fund or the likely returns of any investment.

PERFORMANCE AND FEES

Past performance is not a guarantee or a reliable indicator of future results. The "gross of fees" performance figures, if included, are presented before management fees and custodial fees, but do reflect commissions, other expenses and reinvestment of earnings. The "net of fees" performance figures reflect the deduction of ongoing charges. All periods longer than one year are annualized. Investments made by a Fund and the results achieved by a Fund are not expected to be the same as those made by any other PIMCO-advised Fund, including those with a similar name, investment objective or policies. A new or smaller Fund's performance may not represent how the Fund is expected to or may perform in the long-term. New Funds have limited operating histories for investors to evaluate and new and smaller Funds may not attract sufficient assets to achieve investment and trading efficiencies. A Fund may be forced to sell a comparatively large portion of its portfolio to meet significant shareholder redemptions for cash, or hold a comparatively large portion of its portfolio in cash due to significant share purchases for cash, in each case when the Fund otherwise would not seek to do so, which may adversely affect performance.

Outlook: Statements concerning financial market trends or portfolio strategies are based on current market conditions, which will fluctuate. There is no guarantee that these investment strategies will work under all market conditions or are appropriate for all investors and each investor should evaluate their ability to invest for the long term, especially during periods of downturn in the market. Outlook and strategies are subject to change without notice.

ESG Category Article 6 Funds: Article 6 funds do not have sustainable investment as its objective, nor do they promote environmental and/or social characteristics.

While such funds integrate sustainability risks into its investment policy (as further outlined in the Prospectus) and this integration process forms part of the investment level due diligence of the fund, ESG information is not the sole or primary consideration for any investment decision with respect to the fund. As the Fund is actively managed and does not promote environmental or social characteristics, the climate related holdings are not static and may vary considerably overtime.
